

ISES Chapter Bio

Name: Dave Williams, DVideography

Occupation: Owner

Experience: Dave is a passionate video production professional and a leader in Wedding and Event Videography. His leadership and trademark fluid shooting style have helped raise the bar for video production professionals across the country. Dave has won several local and international video production awards and has been named one of the top 25 videographers by EventDV magazine two years in a row.

As a young teen, Dave Williams took an early interest in moving images. Armed with his Super8 film camera, he directed his friends in backyard action adventure episodes and short war movies. When portable consumer cameras hit the market in the late 70's, Dave became the family documentarian, recording everything from birthday parties to family outings to ski trips. His passion for video production grew at an exponential rate!

Dave went on to spend twelve years in the pharmaceutical industry, utilizing his talent for video production in many aspects of pharmaceutical sales with Janssen Pharmaceutical and Purdue Pharma.

Although corporate video production was extremely satisfying, Dave's true talent for telling stories using video flourished when he offered to shoot a colleague's wedding (the first wedding video that Dave produced). Dave quickly earned the respect of the wedding videography industry and won several awards from the largest local videographer association in the country, the Greater Philadelphia Videographers Association. Dave still sits on the board of the GPVA and is a regular speaker at the International Wedding and Event Videographers Association (WEVA) Expo in Las Vegas. Dave and DVideography have won multiple WEVA Creative Excellence Awards and have become well known for teaching Dave's style of shooting to videographers around the world.

As a long-time Glidecam operator and a certified Steadicam operator, Dave has developed a style of shooting and post-production that is truly unique in the industry. Dave also produces dynamic corporate and commercial work for clients through his sister company, Media Wave Video Productions. Dave continually invests in training and technology, attracting talented shooters, editors, and writers from across the Greater Philadelphia region.
